ANALYSIS

- Cash and cash equivalents stood at EUR273.7m at the end of the year (vs BG: EUR263.4m), including an USD2560m upfront payment from AstraZeneca at the end of Q2 16. Operating expenses amounted to EUR35.9m on a full-year basis (vs BG: EUR32.6m), and unsurprisingly most of them were linked to R&D (EUR29.9m vs EUR22.7m a year ago).
- No precise guidance was given for FY 16. That said, we think the burn rate should increase (OPEX: EUR45.2m based upon our estimates) following the initiation of 5 Phase I/II trials evaluating monalizumab in different types of cancer and settings. As a reminder, the costs associated with lirilumab are fully supported by BMS as the latter got all rights on the compound; while IPH and AZN agreed to co-develop monalizumab and the associated biomarkers.

VALUATION

- Buy reiterated with a FV of EUR19. At current levels and based upon our SOTP, the street gives nearly no value to monalizumab (anti-NKG2A) whereas 1/ we believe it could become a major asset for AstraZeneca (differentiated mechanism of action for a checkpoint inhibitor, potential predictive marker of response with HLA-E, etc.); 2/ we think Celgene could reach a deal with AZN/IPH to develop this compound in haematological malignancies (notably in chronic lymphoid leukaemia and multiple myeloma).

NEXT CATALYSTS

- Q2 16: Phase II results for lirilumab (anti-KIR) as a monotherapy for the maintenance treatment of elderly patients with acute myeloid leukaemia (AML).
- Q2 16: Phase Ib results for lirilumab in combination with nivolumab in different solid tumours?

Bryan Garnier stock rating system

For the purposes of this Report, the Bryan Garnier stock rating system is defined as follows:

Stock rating

BUY	Positive opinion for a stock where we expect a favourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential upside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
NEUTRAL	Opinion recommending not to trade in a stock short-term, neither as a BUYER or a SELLER, due to a specific set of factors. This view is intended to be temporary. It may reflect different situations, but in particular those where a fair value shows no significant potential or where an upcoming binary event constitutes a high-risk that is difficult to quantify. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
SELL	Negative opinion for a stock where we expect an unfavourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential downside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
