ANALYSIS

- Obviously positive data from the LEADER trial whose headlines were disclosed last Friday by Novo-Nordisk is not good news for Sanofi/Zealand's LixiLan. The respective components in the combination may already have appeared superior on the Novo-Nordisk side but in a couple of weeks' time, SWITCH demonstrated the superiority of Tresiba over Lantus in reducing hypoglycaemias whereas LEADER now shows a cardiovascular benefit for Victoza over placebo, which Lyxumia failed to demonstrate in ELIXA about a year ago. The game is not over and there is room for two players in this category but this gives the Danish company a clear edge over the French one to claim for a better drug. More than ever, Sanofi should pay the price to gain market shars and convert patients from Lantus into LixiLan at a premium price while staying well below what Novo-Nordisk could price for Xultophy (Victoza + Tresiba could lead to a price over USD20 per day). This is going to be an interesting marketing battle.
- It is also worth noting that a 7-day jury trial is starting today in the patent case which opposes Amgen to Regeneron and Sanofi over PCSK9 as Amgen claims that alirocumab infringes one of its patents. A hearing for a permanent injunction is also on the calendar for 23rd March 2016. Many thought that a settlement could have been reached between the parties before the two dates resulting in royalties to be paid by Sanofi and Regeneron to Amgen on Praluent's sales, but both sides are confident enough not to settle at this stage (it is arguable that Amgen's patent may be too broad and as such deemed vulnerable if not invalid). A 20% royalty rate paid to Amgen would have a EUR1.2 negative impact on our FV of Sanofi (2023 Praluent sales BG estimates: EUR5bn).

VALUATION

No change to our estimates.

Bryan Garnier stock rating system

For the purposes of this Report, the Bryan Garnier stock rating system is defined as follows:

Stock rating

BUY	Positive opinion for a stock where we expect a favourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential upside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.

- NEUTRAL Opinion recommending not to trade in a stock short-term, neither as a BUYER or a SELLER, due to a specific set of factors. This view is intended to be temporary. It may reflect different situations, but in particular those where a fair value shows no significant potential or where an upcoming binary event constitutes a high-risk that is difficult to quantify. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
- SELL Negative opinion for a stock where we expect an unfavourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential downside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
