Yesterday, JNJ published its Q1 16 results and we noted that the "Other Oncology Products" revenues in the US jumped to USD145m from USD11m a year ago. And we can say this is mainly due to the increasing uptake of daratumumab. This is undoubtedly why Genmab has significantly raised its 2016 sales guidance for this product (USD400-450m vs USD250-300m) along with the rest of the P&L (the operating income being now expected to be in the range of DKK125-175m at the end of the year, while the cash position should reach DKK3,400-3,500m). That being said, we think this updated objective can once again be outmatched 1/ US sales will improve on a sequential basis (like Ibrance for example); 2/ we expect an European approval in the coming weeks (and we're pretty sure the uptake in Europe should be as strong as in the US). BUY reiterated with a FV of DKK1,350 vs DKK1,225 previously.

ANALYSIS

- Yesterday, JNJ published its Q1 16 results and we noted that the "Other Oncology Products" revenues in the US jumped to USD145m from USD11m a year ago. And we can say this is mainly due to the increasing uptake of daratumumab (which as a reminder got its very first green light from the FDA on November, 16 2015) as 1/ no other significant cancer therapies from JNJ's pipeline have since then been approved; and 2/ the management stated during its conference call that "Darzalex contributed over 2% to the US Pharmaceutical (USD4.9Bn) growth rate".
- 1/ Assuming that "dara" generated USD90-110m during this first quarter (thus leading to an annualized run rate of USD360-440m while solely taking into account the US), and 2/ bearing in mind we still expect a market authorization from the European regulator in the coming weeks, this is why Genmab has significantly raised its 2016 sales guidance for this product (USD400-450m vs USD250-300m) along with the rest of the P&L (the operating income being now expected to be in the range of DKK125-175m at the end of the year, while the cash position should reach DKK3,400-3,500m)...
- That being said, we think this updated objective can once again be outmatched 1/ US sales will improve on a sequential basis (like Ibrance for example); 2/ we expect an European approval in the coming weeks (and we're pretty sure the uptake in Europe should be as strong as in the US).
- We've raised our sales and bottom line estimates following these two publications as followed: 1/ daratumumab's sales: USD590m this very year and USD1.0Bn as for 2017 (vs USD249m and USD505m respectively but we've always said we were very conservative); 2/ operating income: DKK215m (vs DKK34m previously).

Bryan Garnier stock rating system

For the purposes of this Report, the Bryan Garnier stock rating system is defined as follows:

Stock rating

BUY	Positive opinion for a stock where we expect a favourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential upside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
NEUTRAL	Opinion recommending not to trade in a stock short-term, neither as a BUYER or a SELLER, due to a specific set of factors. This view is intended to be temporary. It may reflect different situations, but in particular those where a fair value shows no significant potential or where an upcoming binary event constitutes a high-risk that is difficult to quantify. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
SELL	Negative opinion for a stock where we expect an unfavourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation.
