During the conference call yesterday, management added some colour to the growth drivers that have boosted sales and earnings in Q1. More importantly it insisted on the sustainability of this momentum, on the basis of a strong growth of the backlog over the next two quarters. We are revising up our FY16-17 assumptions by 2% (GM, opex leverage), leading to our new FV of EUR124 vs. EUR122. Buy recommendation confirmed.

ANALYSIS

- ADS: stellar momentum in Lifestyle... Sales at Originals were up 45% FX-n, exactly in line with Q4 (+45% FX-n), with by a double-digit growth in all regions but Russia/CIS. This performance was again driven by the key footwear franchises, in addition to the successful start of the NMD franchise launched in December. According to the management, the NMD franchise should have a similar sales potential than the Superstar in the MT (~15m pairs sold last year). The growth at NEO was even more impressive (+60% FX-n) with a double-digit increase in both footwear and apparel. Growth prospects in Europe remain buoyant as the brand is shifting its distribution from own retail to key wholesale partners to increase its footprint. Consequently the 16 DOS in Germany, Czech Republic and Poland will be closed, but the 2,000+ stores across China are not impacted.
- ... Sport Performance was up 22% FX-n. All key categories contributed to this performance: Training (+15% FX-n), Running (+19% FX-n) fuelled by the Boost franchise which accounts for ~1/3 of the total running footwear activity and of course, Football (+25% FX-n). Interestingly, these Performance categories, especially the US sport business (+50%), also fuelled the 31% increase in ADS sales in North America, marking a strong acceleration vs. Q4. It is worth noting that the Design Studio in Brooklyn will open in September but the three ex-Nike designers, who started in March, are already working on future projects.
- Football: sales increased 25% FX-n. Like in other categories, the momentum stemmed from ADS' key footwear franchises (i.e. "Ace" and "X"), but Apparel was also up double-digit thanks to new federation kits. This strong momentum is all the more promising since the contribution from products dedicated to the Copa America and EURO 2016 Championships is low in Q1, the ramp up traditionally occurs in Q2. Management expects to break the record level achieved last year (EUR2.2bn) and maintain its leadership.
- Golf: what future for TMaG (-1% FX-n in Q1)? Last year ADS had already announced its intention to sell Adams Gold and Ashworth and since yesterday, TaylorMade (+6% FX-n in Q1) is now for sale. On our estimates, these three brands account for ~65-70% of TMaG sales (EUR902m in 2015), o/w 60% for TM alone. The EV of TM should be in the range of EUR380-550m, or EV/sales multiples of 0.7-1x given its global leadership. As a comparison, Callaway currently trades at 2016e EV/sales of 1x but it succeeded its turnaround and generates higher margins. As for Adams Golf and and Ashworth, their implied valuation should be below 0.5x EV/sales In our view potential buyers are likely to be investment firms rather than other competitors such as Callaway (too expensive, significant overlaps), Nike (golf is not a strategic category), UA (expansion in golf but focus on apparel and footwear) or Fila Korea (Fila owns Titleist, Acushnet and Footjoy brands).
- We are raising our FY16 assumptions by 2%. On the back of a more favourable mix elements (product, price) which more than offset the "USD cliff" (negative impact of nearly 400bp), we are now expecting a GM of 47.9% (-40bp vs. 2014) vs. FY guidance of 47.8-48.9%. The robust FX-n growth (BG: ~15%e) will also lead to a more favourable operating leverage, hence our new op margin forecast of 6.8% (+30bp vs. 2014 adj.) and vs. FY target of 6.6-7%.

VALUATION

Our new FV of EUR124 vs. EUR122 reflects our updated assumptions for 2016, which will clearly be well-oriented for adidas Group. Buy recommendation confirmed.

Bryan Garnier stock rating system

For the purposes of this Report, the Bryan Garnier stock rating system is defined as follows:

Stock rating

BUY

Positive opinion for a stock where we expect a favourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential upside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.

NEUTRAL

Opinion recommending not to trade in a stock short-term, neither as a BUYER or a SELLER, due to a specific set of factors. This view is intended to be temporary. It may reflect different situations, but in particular those where a fair value shows no significant potential or where an upcoming binary event constitutes a high-risk that is difficult to quantify. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.

SELL

Negative opinion for a stock where we expect an unfavourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential downside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
