Moncler keeps up the momentum Fair Value EUR17 (+10%)

Given Moncler's highly seasonal business (F/W collections: 75% of sales), Q2 is the smallest quarter of the year accounting for ~10% of FY revenues on average over the 2013-15 period. However, this does not prevent the group from delivering further robust momentum that clearly outpaces its luxury peers, and we anticipate 13% FX-n growth for Q2, vs. -1-0% on average for our luxury sample. Buy recommendation and FV of EUR17 confirmed.

ANALYSIS

- A lack of tourists in Europe partly offset by local customers. Like other luxury groups, Moncler has witnessed a decline in tourist flows in Italy, France and Belgium, mostly Asian travellers, following the terror attacks in Brussels and a less attractive price gap between Europe and Greater China. However, we understand that demand from the local clientele was good and that the group was not affected by unfavourable weather conditions.
- Solid performances expected in Asia-Pacific... In Q2, Moncler's key markets (Greater China, South Korea) should continue to drive the group's growth in Asia-Pacific, even in Japan (~15% of sales) where the Italian brand still enjoys the positive impact from the opening of the flagship store in Ginza last October (=> higher share of Chinese customers there). Moreover, Moncler's operations in Greater China may have benefited from a pick-up in domestic consumption since Chinese clients travelled less during the quarter.
- ... and in North America. After a strong first quarter (+21% FX-n), the Italian group maintained robust growth in the region (+17%e). This performance was balanced between Retail and Wholesale, thanks to a selective approach with these wholesalers, its upscale positioning (no discounts) and a cautious replenishment management (low risks of excess inventory).

Moncler's organic growth by quarter (%):

FX-n growth	Q1 2015	Q2 2015	Q1 2016	Q2 2016e
Italy	7	11	5	2
EMEA excl. Italy	19	15	5	4
Asia & RoW	48	10	30	27
Americas	61	83	21	17
Total Revenues	30	20	17	13

- Limited decline in adj. EBITDA margin in H1 (-30bp to 23.7%). This forecast is consistent with our FY assumption (-30bp to 33.8%). We expect a 10bp-improvement in the GM (to 72.8%) driven by the positive channel-mix while the integration of a second Romanian supplier (March 2016) might imply a slight dilutive impact. We anticipate a 60bp increase in opex (to 55.1%) given retail expansion (+3 stores in Q2) and start-up costs implied by the (soft) opening of the flagship store in London and the future new flagship store in NYC (Madison Ave. in Q3 2016).
- Investment case confirmed so far. We favour Moncler for its heritage and strong legitimacy that enables the brand to outperform the highly fragmented and dynamic outerwear segment (~+5%/year). The growth story is about top line (~10% CAGR during 2015-18), driven by the group's excellent control of the retail channel (~70% of 2015 sales). As a reminder, during the Q1 conference call CCO Luciano Santel was pleased by KPIs at the new stores, some of them even delivered results above expectations. Yet, Moncler is focusing on improving efficiency further (CRM, relocations and refurbishments).

VALUATION

The stock has soared 19% ytd vs. -6% on average for our luxury sample. It now trades at 11.7x 2017e EV/EBIT vs. 11.5x for the peer group. Ahead of Brexit results, it is worth noting that the UK only accounts for 4-5% of Moncler's sales and the vast majority of its costs are denominated in EUR.

BUY

Bryan Garnier stock rating system

For the purposes of this Report, the Bryan Garnier stock rating system is defined as follows:

Stock rating

BUY	Positive opinion for a stock where we expect a favourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a
Der	recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential upside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.

- NEUTRAL Opinion recommending not to trade in a stock short-term, neither as a BUYER or a SELLER, due to a specific set of factors. This view is intended to be temporary. It may reflect different situations, but in particular those where a fair value shows no significant potential or where an upcoming binary event constitutes a high-risk that is difficult to quantify. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
- SELL Negative opinion for a stock where we expect an unfavourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential downside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
