Two of the largest US PBMs have issued their first preferred drug lists for 2017. They are still hunting for savings through higher rebates and cheaper alternatives. Basaglar looks like one solution.

ANALYSIS

- Two out of the three largest and best ranked US PBMs, namely Express Scripts and CVS Caremark, issued their first Preferred Drug Lists for 2017 and there are significant differences in their respective strategies towards big drug classes for the coming year.
- Before we compare, it is fair to say that maybe ES was already more restrictive than CVS in covering some drugs, hence the relatively limited number of changes implemented for 2017 when comparing with 2016.
- Actually, in the diabetes field, where both Victoza and Jardiance may have been expected to enter ES's preferred drug list in 2017 following positive data in outcome trials, it is not the case and comes as a disappointment for Novo-Nordisk and Lilly respectively. Novo's diabetes products, in the GLP1 class as well as in the insulin field, are still excluded medications from ES list.
- At first glance, Sanofi is not directly impacted by a change in the list as Lantus was already not a preferred brand but a short note nevertheless mentions that "the basal insulins category may be reassessed later this year to reflect anticipated product launches", which clearly reflects the upcoming launch of Basaglar (Lilly) in December. This will not affect Lantus but is an illustration that payers are willing to use this opportunity to use a cheaper drug in a popular category. On this same topic, CVS Caremark makes it clearer and says it wants to embrace the future with biosimilars and follow-on biologics, which includes Zarxio (replacing Neupogen) and Basaglar (replacing Lantus). As such, in this specific case, Sanofi is set to incur a material loss, even more so because Toujeo is removed too. This could illustrate a much more severe shift towards Basaglar than the one seen in Europe and the one that is so far expected by consensus. We have assumed a 30% decline for Lantus in the US for each of the coming two years but this could be conservative if the switches directed by payers are so massive. This puts even more pressure on LixiLan to be approved by the FDA in late August as the rescue product for Sanofi Diabetes without which it may prove difficult to be in the -4 to -8% guidance for 2017.
- It is also interesting to read in CVS Caremark's release that the company intends to save about USD9bn for its customers through a more rigorous approach to formularies which includes an indication-based strategy in some cases including categories like psoriasis.
- Lastly, still with CVS Caremark that has decided to exclude 35 drugs from January 2017, we note beyond drugs that now have generics, the presence of Tassigna (that goes alongside Gleevec now generic), Opsumit (to favour Letairis or in anticipation of Tracleer going generic) and Xtandi.
- At ES, we see no major new exclusion but noticeable inclusions for our European companies with Actemra in RA (however subject to reassessment when sarilumab will be launched) and Arnuity and Flovent in the field of asthma, both from GSK that is likely that have agreed some extra rebates.

VALUATION

- We are making no change to our numbers based on these new assumptions for 2017 PBM plans but Sanofi's Diabetes franchise clearly needs to be carefully watched for next year.

NEXT CATALYSTS

- 5th August 2016: Novo-Nordisk half-year results
- Late August: PDUFA date iGlarLixi (Sanofi/Zealand)

Bryan Garnier stock rating system

For the purposes of this Report, the Bryan Garnier stock rating system is defined as follows:

Stock rating

BUY	Positive opinion for a stock where we expect a favourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential upside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
NEUTRAL	Opinion recommending not to trade in a stock short-term, neither as a BUYER or a SELLER, due to a specific set of factors. This view is intended to be temporary. It may reflect different situations, but in particular those where a fair value shows no significant potential or where an upcoming binary event constitutes a high-risk that is difficult to quantify. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
SELL	Negative opinion for a stock where we expect an unfavourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential downside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.

Distribution of stock ratings
