Carrefour has just released a Q3 trading statement slightly above expectations. Total group sales worked out at EUR21.8m (ve EUR21.67bn e), up +3.2% LFL (vs +2.6% e). This publication is all the more satisfying in that the aggressiveness of Carrefour in September in France, translated into the first market share gain for hypermarkets (-1.0% LFL in Q3 vs -1.2% e) in 2016 (i.e. +30bp during the latest Kantar period) and proved that Carrefour is able to surprise Leclerc! Admittedly, "one swallow does not make a summer", but let's enjoy it! On top of that, according to Reuters, Carrefour is comfortable with the current level of EBIT consensus (EUR2.45bn). Buy.

1/ Carrefour supermarkets in France were well above expectations (LFL reached +3.7% vs +2.8%e) on high comps, which tends to prove that recent price efforts are bearing fruit; 2/ the performance by hypermarkets is improving (-1% LFL) especially towards the end of the quarter obviously (+30bp market share gains in september); 3/ In Europe momentum remained decent (+1.0% LFL), decelerating sequentially but on high comps; 4/ So far so good in LatAm (+14.2%) and in line in Asia.

ANALYSIS

- Carrefour has long been suffering a decline in market share at its French hypers, momentum at which remains key to the equity story. In this respect, the post-summer promotional campaign in France (which was not successful in 2015) was a challenge Carrefour had to cope with in 2016. Judging by the lack of strong reaction by Leclerc, it seems that Carrefour has taken the group by surprise during an extremely aggressive month in September. Ultimately, this translated into the first market share gain for hypermarkets in 2016 (i.e. +30bp during the latest Kantar period) and proved that Carrefour is able to surprise Leclerc! Admittedly, "one swallow does not make a summer", but let's enjoy it!
- In a sector that is suffering an obvious lack of growth (with apathetic LFL rates for most retailers), it is worth emphasizing the +3.2% LFL rate at Carrefour (above the natural cost inflation). Beyond this publication, we believe that Carrefour's way of fine-tuning the offer (notably through the triptych 1/ fresh, 2/ local and 3/ organic) is the right answer to cope with the endemic challenge of growth (which, today, is exacerbated by the irruption of e-commerce).
- On the whole, 1/ we are convinced by the structural measures implemented by Carrefour to cope with the long-term challenge of growth (see: Tending towards premiumisation?). The outline of this omni-channel strategy is taking shape in France: logistical overhaul; premiumisation; 3/ acquisition of malls (design of a connected ecosystem). On top of that, 2/ the short term momentum turned out to be satisfying. Along with 3/ an attractive valuation (2017 P/E of 12x vs 16.5x for peers), we see no reason why we could not maintain our Buy rating.

Bryan Garnier stock rating system

For the purposes of this Report, the Bryan Garnier stock rating system is defined as follows:

Stock rating

BUY	Positive opinion for a stock where we expect a favourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential upside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
NEUTRAL	Opinion recommending not to trade in a stock short-term, neither as a BUYER or a SELLER, due to a specific set of factors. This view is intended to be temporary. It may reflect different situations, but in particular those where a fair value shows no significant potential or where an upcoming binary event constitutes a high-risk that is difficult to quantify. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
SELL	Negative opinion for a stock where we expect an unfavourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential downside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
