Q3 sales decreased 0.1% to EUR13.4bn, globally in line with expectations (consensus and our estimate: EUR13.5bn). Organic sales growth stood at +3.2% (consensus: +2.8% and our estimate: +3.2%), with price +3.6% and volume/mix -0.4%. The deceleration vs the first half of the year (+4.7%) had been flagged by the group at the release of its H1 2016 results but, surprisingly, it was due to the Home Care and Personal Care divisions while Refreshments, which was expected to be weak, displayed good momentum. We think that China is mainly responsible for HPC slowing down. The country is currently impacted by intense price competition from local brands and destocking related to the continued rapid shift to e-commerce.

ANALYSIS

- Q3 sales decreased 0.1% to EUR13.4bn, globally in line with expectations (consensus and our estimate: EUR13.5bn). The organic sales growth stood at +3.2% (consensus: +2.8% and our estimate: +3.2%), with price +3.6% and volume/mix -0.4%. The deceleration vs the first half of the year (+4.7%) had been flagged by the group at the release of its H1 2016 results but, surprisingly, it was due to the Home Care and Personal Care divisions while Refreshments, which was expected to be weak, displayed good momentum. We think that China is mainly responsible for HPC slowing down. The country is currently impacted by intense price competition from local brands and destocking related to the continued rapid shift to e-commerce. By division:
- Personal Care (37% of group sales): This division posted 3.1% organic sales growth (consensus: +4% and our estimate: +4.5%). This is a slowdown vs the first half of the year (+5.7%) which is reported to come from an unfavourable comparison base (+6.1% in Q3 2015) and a deterioration of the competitive environment in many markets.
- Foods (23% of group sales): Organic sales rose 1.7% in Q3 (consensus: +1.8% and our estimate: +2%). The growth of dressings and savoury is offset by a decline of spreads in developed countries. The group indicated that the trend of spreads in North America is better, while in Europe there is no sign of improvement
- Home Care (19% of group sales): Sales were up 3.9% on an organic basis in Q3, which is below expectations (consensus: +5% and our estimate: +5.5%) and a clear deterioration vs the first half of the year (+6.5%).
- Refreshment (20% of group sales): Q3 organic sales increased 4.5%. This is a positive surprise as we were expecting a deceleration (consensus: -0.8% and our estimate: 0%) on the back of tough comps (+8.5% in Q3 2015). Unilever indicated that its performance was helped by the good European weather and strong innovations behind its core brands.

VALUATION

- Our DCF points to a Fair Value of EUR43. At yesterday's share price, the stock is trading at 21.9x P/E 2016e and 20.0x P/E 2017e, globally in line with the peer average.

NEXT CATALYSTS

- Unilever will hold a conference call at 9am CET
- Q3 2016 sales: Danone on October 18th and Nestlé on October 20th

Bryan Garnier stock rating system

For the purposes of this Report, the Bryan Garnier stock rating system is defined as follows:

Stock rating

BUY	Positive opinion for a stock where we expect a favourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential upside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
NEUTRAL	Opinion recommending not to trade in a stock short-term, neither as a BUYER or a SELLER, due to a specific set of factors. This view is intended to be temporary. It may reflect different situations, but in particular those where a fair value shows no significant potential or where an upcoming binary event constitutes a high-risk that is difficult to quantify. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
SELL	Negative opinion for a stock where we expect an unfavourable performance in absolute terms over a period of 6 months from the publication of a recommendation. This opinion is based not only on the FV (the potential downside based on valuation), but also takes into account a number of elements that could include a SWOT analysis, momentum, technical aspects or the sector backdrop. Every subsequent published update on the stock will feature an introduction outlining the key reasons behind the opinion.
